ROBE lighting Re-brands

ROBE lighting launches a fresh new look logo and has undertaken a complete corporate re-branding exercise, including a name-change from "Robe Show Lighting" to "ROBE lighting".

This reflects the current scope and breadth of Robe's products and the massively increased range which also includes a full selection of innovative digital lighting and LED products. In just 5 years since launching as an "own brand", the company has enjoyed enormous success worldwide. The new identity takes Robe forward into a new level of operation. Robe's presence can be found in all sectors of the professional entertainment and leisure market - from clubs and live music venues to casinos and cruise ships to buildings and architectural applications.

The new logo was introduced at the PLASA 2007 exhibition, which also included a completely new booth with a strong contemporary design.

As of 1st October 2007, all correspondence should be addressed to 'ROBE lighting s. r. o.'. All the address and contact details remain the same.

New logo is ready for download to all our business partners with access to the "Technical Support" section.
